Playing in the Light

A Godly Play® Workshop for Quakers

Pendle Hill, May 15-17, 2009

Presenters: Caryl Menkhus, Melinda Wenner Bradley and Michael Gibson

Are you looking for a dynamic, Quaker-friendly approach to religious education and the Bible that is open-ended and that honors the spiritual lives of children?

Are you looking for a curriculum for children between the ages of 3 and 12 that offers consistency, meaningful engagement and rich pay-off to both teachers and children?

Are you looking for material that can also be used effectively in multigenerational settings?

We are convinced the Montessori-inspired approach known as Godly Play® is all of these and more, and we are excited about it!

Please read on . . .

This is not a method one can run with just from reading a lesson plan or from seeing a demonstration. Godly Play® requires considerable training, and Friends General Conference would love to provide it for you in a richly worshipful, nurturing context. Please consider setting aside a weekend with us and registering with Pendle Hill for this workshop. Workshop fees will include all instruction, housing and meals, and there will also be a commuter option. Mark your calendar now, remember this exciting opportunity at budget time, and keep your eyes and ears open for more news.

This workshop is jointly sponsored by Pendle Hill and the Religious Education Committee of Friends General Conference.
